

Conform

Definition: (verb) to comply with rules, standards, or laws. (Of a person) to behave according to socially acceptable conventions or standards..

Etymology:

The study of the origin (beginning) of words

Origin

LATIN

con-

together

LATIN

formare

to form

LATIN

conformare

OLD FRENCH

conformer

conform

make (something) like another thing

Middle English

Middle English (in the sense 'make (something) like another thing'): from Old French conformer, from Latin conformare, from con- 'together' + formare 'to form'.

Synonyms of the word “conform”...

Comply

Obey

Follow

Fit in

Examples in Context

1. "You will conform to our expectations!" barked the commander.
2. Not everyone feels comfortable conforming with society's expectations.

How words might be used by people in various professions...

The quantity surveyor had to conform to the company's regulations.

Use the word conform as many times as possible throughout the week to achieve positives!

This can be verbally, in your written work or even when you hear an adult around the school using it.